What are the minimum requirements for applicants?

Please see below a list of some of the mandatory requirements:

Why is my country not listed in the list of eligible countries?

TWAS has identified 66 countries (STLCs) in which capacity in science and technology is significantly behind. The list includes the 44 Least Developed Countries (LDC) identified by the United Nations and some low- to middle-income countries requiring support in building research capacity.

Do I have to be a resident in one of the eligible countries?

Yes, applicants must hold an employment contract at a university or research institution in one of the eligible countries.

I am a national of an eligible country, but I am currently living and working at an institution in a non-eligible country. Can I still apply?

No, you cannot apply if you are currently working at a university or research institution outside one the 66 eligible countries.

I am a past grantee, but I am currently living and working at a different institution. Can I still apply?

No, you cannot apply, because the equipment previously purchased with a TWAS grant remains property of that institution. If you are no longer there, you are not eligible to apply.

I submitted a satisfactory final report on a previous grant, may I apply for a renewal?

Yes, both individuals and research units may apply for the Maintenance Grant, provided that they have already submitted a satisfactory final report. In this case, you must insert your previous Research Grant code in the application form.

I am a past grantee, but I still have to submit the final report. If I need money to repair equipment bought at the beginning of my grant, may I apply?

You may submit an application form after submitting your final report.

MULTIPLE APPLICATIONS WITHIN THE SAME YEAR

I have already submitted an application for another TWAS programme this year, for which I do not have the outcome yet. Can I apply to TWAS Maintenance Grant too?

WHAT HAPPENS AFTER SUBMITTING MY APPLICATION
